Subject: Combine Community mtg w/ Mayor mtg? Weekly Report
Attachments: weekly 2-14-2017.docx; ATT00001.htm

Dear John, I wasn't going to write up anything for the weekly about last week's community meeting because we already put it in the previous weekly. I wasn't going to write up that EJ task force because it didn't seem to rise to that level of significance. But Jackie decided to write these, which I combined and shortened. Do you think we also need to put this into the weekly for SFD-8-3 that goes to HQ? And for Debbie Jordan?

Dear Jackie,

Thank you for writing these up. I looked at the examples from Christina's recent Weekly reports. They seem shorter, so I tried to fit that format in the attached suggested edits.

Hunters Point Naval Shipyard, San Francisco:

On February 8, 2017, the U.S. Navy and regulators conducted an open house poster session on the Tetra Tech radiation issue at the Store House conference room on base. There were seven stations manned by experts covering the following: open house overview, what is radiation, multiple laptop presentation station, radiation sources, data review and path forward, and protecting public health and community technical advisor. We had four greeters and two roamers to help guide people through the sessions helping them get answers to their concerns. There was a media event just before the meeting for press interviews. Two hundred people attended. Activists from Greenaction attended and tried to disrupt the session, but there were too many people who came to get information and there antics fell on death ears for most. They were assisted by greeters and asked to meet away from the poster area. There were a good number of on base tenants and new homeowners in attendance. (Jackie Lane X2-3236 and Lily Lee X7-4187)

On Wednesday, February 15, 2017 there will be a Bayview Hunters Point EJ response task force meeting. The agenda calls for a review of the online complaints, a presentation on the use of the SF City's 311 system, update on toxic clean up issue at Golden State warrior stadium and an update on the hunters point naval shipyard issue. Dan Hirsch will be in attendance asking specific questions about radiation cleanup standards.(Jackie Lane X2-3236 and Lily Lee X7-4187)
